PROBLEMS FACING ST. ANDREW'S CATHEDRAL PARISH OUTLINED BY BISHOP HENRY BOND RESTARICK

"You Have an Opportunity Which is Unique and Which is to Have Great Influence," He Says—Holds Last Year Most Prosperous in History of Church

"You, as the people of St. Andrew's cathedral, have an opportunity which is unique and which is to have a great influence, for though these islands are small, they always had a powerful influence in relation to the people of the world."

Thus spoke Rt. Rev. Henry Bond Restarick, bishop of Honolulu, in his address at the annual meeting of St. Andrew's cathedral parish in Davies Memorial hall last Tuesday evening.

The bishop outlined clearly the problems now facing the parish. He said, in part:

"There is one thing which your Dean can say and that is that in the past year this has been the most prosperous year in the history of this parish. I refer to the financial condition of the parish."

"This has been wholly a matter undertaken and carried out by members of the vestry and by the vestry itself. These far-seeing men saw the need of a larger income and believed that it could be raised and set to work in a business-like manner to raise it, and the thing was done."

"It did not arise from the clergy urging the laity, but from a group of laity acting as a voluntary committee. The report of the treasurer will show what I mean by this reference to finances. I may say here that for the first time in the history of the parish since my coming the Easter offering was given to an object outside of the direct interests of the parish, that is towards the payment of the debt on the church at Kaimuki. I sincerely hope that we shall be able in the future to follow up this precedent."

As to the spiritual side of its parish—it is for the vicar to report on that. He has charge of the pastoral work which as you well know he endeavors to carry out faithfully and persistently."

"If attendance at church is now any sign of this spiritual life of the parish, then compared with parishes on the mainland we have not much of which we can complain and yet, it is a source of constant anxiety to see how many of the communicant members of this cathedral parish instead of being 'regular attendants' might be called 'regular absentees.' We see them at Christmas and at Easter at an early celebration and perhaps at no other time during the year. It is a sad thing to record this fact but it certainly shows that a large number of our people have no vital and active interest in the worship and work of the church."

Plan Preaching Mission

"This condition is not peculiar here for we find that complaint everywhere. How to remedy it we know not. We expect and hope to hold a preaching mission next Advent when one of the great bishops of the United States is expected to come here and we hope that this will be the means of reviving the spiritual life of many people. It should be remembered that a revival if taken at the meaning of the word is for this purpose. It is not primarily to call people entirely neglectful of any touch with Christ and His Church to repentance and faith and baptism, but it is primarily intended to revive the faith and repentance of those who are baptized members of the church and therefore our first object will be to get all who have been born into the church to attend the services at that time that they may hear the words and be moved to enter upon a new life."

"There is one sign of spiritual life which may be mentioned and that is the large number who attend the early celebration of the Holy Communion at the cathedral. Taking last Sunday as an ordinary example there were 60 who received the Blessed Sacrament. If this, however, means that the rest of the Lord's Day is to be spent entirely in gaiety or frivolity it is only a sign of the recognition of a bare duty, rather than of a spiritual consciousness."

"You are aware that the Dean of this cathedral is the directive head of all the work connected with it. It is most essential, therefore, that his work be coordinated and in every possible way workable. The work as delegated by the Dean is in the hands of Canon Ault and the Rev. Leopold Kroll. These priests and certain others have rights which are guaranteed by the cathedral statutes, not only with especial reference to their own congregations but to all services at the cathedral. It should be the pleasure as well as the duty of all concerned to aid by their sympathy and effort this coordinate work, that in this center of the Pacific where the races meet we may set an example to the world of the brotherhood of man through the fatherhood of God. The most important thing in connection with this cathedral is hearing witness to this great truth which we emphasize on all possible occasions."

"We are here to be an example in a unique way and while each one has his own work he must have a vision and a sympathy far beyond it if he is to realize in any way the spirit of this cathedral system. Opportunity is Unique

"You, as people of St. Andrew's Cathedral, have an opportunity which is unique and which is to have a great influence for though these islands are small they have always had a powerful influence in relation to the people of the world. Here in Hawaii was the first industrial school in missionary work. Here we are working out problems which confound many of the theories of those who write about the Orient. Each member of this Cathedral Parish should try to recognize our position, should maintain

CHURCH REPORTS ARE WELL WORTH READING

Much of the Star-Bulletin's church page this week is devoted to reports read at the annual meeting of St. Andrew's cathedral parish last Tuesday evening. The reports are full of interest and will be found well worth reading.

MISSION WORK IN CHINA TO BE MEETING TOPIC

A meeting of international significance is planned for Wednesday evening at the Central Union parish house when the missionary committee of the church will present a program dealing with the Christian work done among the Chinese of this city and its results in China.

Mrs. Elijah Mackenzie, for many years a successful worker at Beretania Mission, will tell what that organization has done for China. Mrs. Leigh J. Doane, who has recently come to take up work with the Chinese of Honolulu, under the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, will speak on "First Impressions" and will also touch on the relation Central Union bears to the work on the foreign field.

Rev. Norman C. Schneck, in charge of the Chinese work of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, will give a very practical address on "what Central Union could do for the Chinese in Honolulu." All interested are cordially invited to be present.

REPORT TELLS OF GUILD'S EFFORTS

The following report, outlining the work of St. Andrew's guild during the last year, was presented at the recent annual meeting of St. Andrew's cathedral parish:

"This year St. Andrew's Guild has shown marked activity and an unusual amount of work carried out. The work of the different committees has been done in a business-like and earnest manner and shows well rounded out work."

"There have been 10 meetings during the year with from 30 to 35 members present at each one. The attendance should be larger as there is a membership of 118. The balance for the ending year shows an increase over that of the preceding year, the amount being $488.96 an increase of $97.21."

A feature of the year is the pledge of the guild to cooperate with the vestry in every way possible.

"A few changes have been made in the disposition of monies. The guild now pays to the Women's Auxiliary 20 per cent of the year's earnings instead of 10 per cent, and the $75 which has been pledged each year for clergy entertainment, having been relinquished by the bishop and Mrs. Restarick, it goes toward the parish worker's salary. Following the course taken last year $100 has been voted to the Women's Auxiliary for convocation pledges. The regular pledges have been paid and include $70 toward Sunday school Christmas festival; $10 a month to the King's Daughters' Home and the $100 towards parish worker's salary."

"With a staff of $25 from the guild a fund was raised for a new red set for the altar and another fund for vestments for the altar in the morning chapel in the ambulatory so that the vestments are all in good condition. The new Chur. Mother, Mrs. Barry has asked for but little, so far but has been supplied with what she required."

"The guild sends the president and others as representatives to the child welfare committee and lately voted $25 towards expense of feeding under-privileged children in the public schools, the work being carried on by the welfare committee as an experiment and to obtain statistics."

"The relief committee was called upon for a special work, that of raising funds to help a former member of the guild. The committee responded to the call and raised from guild members nearly $500."

"One of the big things accomplished

VICAR TELLS OF PASTORAL WORK

"Year Has Been One of Continual Effort," Says Rev. Canon Ault

Reporting on the pastoral work done in St. Andrew's cathedral parish during the last year, Rev. Canon William Ault, at the recent annual meeting of the parish, said, in part:

"The year has been one of continual effort. There have been successes and there have been apparent failures—disappointments which, if not taken in the proper spirit tend to make one down-hearted but there is not and, as we all know, there should not be any down-heartedness in the life of an humble follower of the Master. What appear to us failures one day are always turned into successes sooner or later."

"The condition of the parish, while there is always room for improvement, is fairly good. It is perhaps not quite fair to judge this parish by any other on the mainland as conditions here are altogether different from those in any other place. The fact that summer is always here—with no cold winter days and evenings when people are glad to get social recreation by attending classes or meetings in some warm comfortable room, or spiritual encouragement by attending services in a warm church. Everything here is open and people like to be out of doors—this fact should not be forgotten. So also the fact that the city is crowded with tourists and friends from away at a time when we are trying to leave off social things and to pay more attention to things spiritual. Yet, in spite of this the services during Lent were well attended, especially on Good Friday, as also were those on Easter Day."

"The different organizations will speak for themselves through their secretaries and treasurers' reports."

"There is one word of encouragement that I would like to give and that is to those who use family worship. People gain and accomplish a wonderful lot in this family religion, for there is nothing like inviting God to the home. That will do more to make that home a happy one than anything else, and the more good homes there are the stronger is the nation. I would that every family observed this custom."

"My warmest thanks go out to every one connected with this parish. The cooperation has been remarkable, the kindness wonderful. Especially would I mention at this time, Mrs. Folsom, who, though no longer connected with this parish as visitor, yet is always ready and willing to help me in that work of the parish that a man cannot do."

"The Sunday School has done good work. On the whole we have had one of the best corps of teachers that we have had for a long time and they certainly have done excellent work."

"My personal acts have been as follows: I have made 1229 calls—taken 573 services and assisted at 49 others—have attended or taken 303 meetings or classes and made 223 addresses."

was the amount of war relief sewing and supplies sent to the wounded soldiers of the allies. The outcome of that work is a flourishing war relief committee, which is not a church organization, but a central organization. Boxes of hospital supplies went from the parish house up to the end of the year, the work having gone on through the summer and autumn. Some hundreds of comfort bags went also to the British Red Cross in London. The value of the gifts was $971.15. While the Red Cross work has been centralized, St. Andrew's guild is represented at least one morning a week, Wednesday."

"The year's report shows a year of satisfactory work, with new members coming in and with enthusiastic and earnest work on the part of a few of the long standing members."

EGG AND SARDINE SALAD

Boil hard as many eggs as you have persons to serve; cool, slice in two lengthwise, and place flat side down in center of large platter which has been previously covered with tender lettuce leaves. Place half slices of omelette on round the eggs, then put sardines next the tomatoes. Sprinkle one tablespoonful minced fresh parsley over eggs, put mayonnaise dressing on eggs and tomatoes and serve. This is an appetizing and very attractive salad, suitable for luncheon or Sunday night suppers.

MISS BARNES MAIN SPEAKER FOR EPWORTH LEAGUE'S ANNIVERSARY

Miss Helen F. Barnes, one of the conspicuous figures in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association is to address the evening service at the First Methodist church tomorrow evening. Miss Barnes is a visitor in the city from Australia. For 5 years she has been in charge of the Y. W. C. A. work in Australia, and is now on her way back to the mainland. Before going to the island continent she was for 10 years one of the national secretaries of the association, so her experience has been unusually wide. Miss Barnes is a woman of large gifts as a speaker as well as of wide experience in administrative work.

The service at which she speaks is planned especially for young people. It is the anniversary of the Epworth League. A year ago on the anniversary an intermediate organization was formed that has been one of the strong features of the work of the church during the year. This year the family of young people's organizations is further enlarged by the addition of a Junior League, which has just been organized under the direction of Miss Willes, the deaconess of the church. The officers of the three societies will be installed as a part of the service.

The Senior League during May is having a "Fellowship luncheon" each Sunday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the church, especially for those who may be strangers in the city or within a church home here. All young people of this kind will be gladly welcomed at this get acquainted hour Sunday afternoon.

GOD'S LAW IN MIND AND HEART
"See, I have set before thee this day life and good, and death and evil."
—Deut. 30: 15.

The great study of the ages is the human soul, yet it must be confessed that though man has advanced with the expanding discoveries of science, art and literature, until he seems to be dwelling in the very outskirts of heaven, yet when it comes to his knowledge of the soul and of the possibilities of that soul when God has had His right with it, we must confess that we are still in the unknown land, the undiscovered continent here on this earth. Having made these wonderful discoveries in all realms of knowledge, it remains for man to confess that he is generally ignorant about the simplest facts of life.

Man came to his life with no knowledge of the mystery out of which he comes, and with no understanding of his destiny. He is a shipwrecked sailor, he longs for some guide, some compass, which might aid him in reaching a haven of safety and rest. What guide is there for man? One of the greatest tragedies of life is the number of unfulfilled careers, uncompleted prophecies, who must close their unsuccessful years with the cry: "This is the great mystery of life, that I have thrown each man upon his own resources, and made him master of his own destiny."

Teachers there are, though, to help us to understand the lessons of life and of God. There are the rewards in daily life for those who seek to live under the laws of God and country, there are the penalties which attend those who are disobedient and who seek to go rioting through this world. There is a delicate mercy in nature's penalties, calculated to warn the thoughtless. The Ten Commandments which we read so often are like thorn hedges, springing up on either side of life's highway. Slowly man discovered the laws of that hedge, and slowly society registered that discovery of the individuals in legal enactments. Early man learned that he must depend on the harvests of his own foresight and industry, and that it was not right for him to sow, if the harvest were to be reaped by an alien hand. Therefore men came together and registered the experience in the law. "Thou shalt not steal."

With this foundation, hundreds of other discoveries were made and registered, through physical laws and social laws, through political laws and domestic laws. Indeed all that we mean when we speak of good manners, politeness, of the amenities of life, of the present registration of what man has discovered as to the best, smoothest, and kindest way of living. And in the last analysis, all these discoveries are revelatory of the will of God. There is another life guide, a guide for good, in the vista of hope with which man enters upon his career, with the energy he approaches his task. Each achievement today is simply a place where man is to encamp, but tomorrow he is to fold his tent and march on toward new heights. History tells us about the reforms that have been achieved, the work which has been done, but ideals and the visions of a new order are prophetic of better things that are to be, and are revelatory, therefore, of the plan of God.

One other book must be mentioned to complete the guide for man—the book of books, the Bible. The Bible is a record of the inner voice, and that which makes it the Book of God is the fact that never once has the Bible been wrong on any moral principle or spiritual experience. The Bible is the Book of God in that it reveals something that man could never find out for himself, namely, how God feels toward the transgressor, and what is His spirit of mercy and love toward the wrongdoer. No obedient man ever found that truth, prayer, self-sacrifice brought remorse and anguish—the Bible was right, they bring peace and happiness. The Bible is a lamp to man's feet and a light to his path. And whoever fulfills its laws, finds the paths that lead to the garden of God. "Little wonder therefore—at the goal of the ages is how can man find out and do the will of God."

REV. E. E. YOUTZ WILL SPEAK AT CENTRAL UNION

Rev. Ernest E. Youtz, minister of the Pilgrim Congregational church of Oakland, California, will preach at Central Union church on Sunday evening. Mr. Youtz, who is a graduate of Simpson College, Iowa, and of Yale Theological Seminary, has been pastor of Pilgrim church for five years and numbers among his parishioners Rev. Walter F. Bear, a former pastor of Fort Street Church, Honolulu.

Mr. Youtz is in Honolulu for a short vacation and reports the pleasantest of trips. He is a young man of pleasing personality and has the reputation of being a vigorous and interesting speaker.

The public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Youtz at the evening service at 7:30 o'clock. Among the musical selections rendered at service will be a solo by Miss Clara C. Pearson and the choir anthem "Hail Me, O Lord" by Marschall-Lospe.

The Toledo Rye & Light Co. proposes to open a school to teach women to run street cars in case the men are called for the army.

MEN SINGERS ARE NEEDED IN CHOIR

Plea is Made in Report of R. R. Bode to St. Andrew's Parish

That the choir of St. Andrew's cathedral is working enthusiastically, but that more male voices are needed, is the summary of a report made to the parish at its annual meeting by R. R. Bode, choirmaster and organist.

"There has been the usual faithful attendance of the members at the services and rehearsals, and I am pleased to have this opportunity of thanking them for their voluntary help, and to express my appreciation of the sacrifices they have made in order to be present regularly."

"In my report of May, 1916, I alluded to our grave difficulties in obtaining an equipment of male voices, and the remarks I made then apply with still stronger force to the present situation. Whilst we have during the School Sessions an adequate supply of ladies' voices, we are sadly in need of male voices. These, I feel sure, could be obtained if some recompense were made for such services. It is the custom of all cathedral churches throughout the world, and in the larger parish churches, to lay aside a certain fund for the payment of choir members. As you are aware, a few years ago a wealthy New York resident donated $500,000 as an endowment fund for the choir of the new cathedral in that city. We cannot hope for anything like this, but I do think that the members of the congregation should be sufficiently interested in the musical needs of our cathedral to provide some endowment fund, or, at least, to donate such sum yearly as would enable us to make our choir more in sympathy with the dignity and beauty of Divine service, as well as of the dignity and beauty of church in which we worship."

"The Hawaiian choir I am pleased to say has kept up its good reputation in spite of many difficulties, and a lessened supply of voices. The choir who have so willingly given their talents, have my warm thanks."

"The Crucifixion" was sung during the Lenten season, and that more cannot be done in the work. It is, however, with our present 'insufficient' of men's voices."

"During the year I have been active in leading and studying the Bible and have conducted the Bible study on our practices, and thirty-eight rehearsals, making a total of a hundred and one duties for the year."

"In conclusion, I should like to express my appreciation of the kind words of approval you have been good enough to make on the choir work for the past year."

PROHIBITION LAW ASKED OF U. S. CONGRESS

Resolutions calling on Congress for the immediate enactment of national prohibition in the United States were adopted at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Prohibition State Committee at its annual dinner at Tremont Temple, says the Boston Christian Science Monitor, and the union of the Progressive and Prohibition parties was unanimously approved. A slate of six candidates for the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention was also endorsed.

As delegates at-large to the convention the candidacies of former Gov. John L. Bates, former Gov. Eugene F. Fos, Joseph Walker, George W. Coleman, Wilmer R. Evans, and Matthew Hale, national chairman of the Progressive Party, were endorsed. For his stand on the initiative and referendum the candidacy of Josiah Quincy was also approved, but the committee refused to endorse George W. Anderson, United States District Attorney in Boston, on the same issue.

In the resolutions for national prohibition through congressional action it was declared that such a measure was imperative as a means of conserving the food supplies, labor, and economic resources of the nation and that efficiency of transportation, preservation of law and order, and that loyalty to the country demanded the immediate abolition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. The large quantities of grain used in the distilleries and breweries were mentioned and it was pointed out that the liquor business prevented efficiency in industry and was an arch enemy of labor conservation and further that the liquor business of the United States drains the nation of more than $2,500,000,000 annually.

CLEANING PEARL ARTICLES
Mother of pearl articles should be cleaned with whiting and cold water—soap discolors them.

Fleas are abundant in the Orient and afford the subject of many proverbial expressions. This insect is only twice mentioned in the Scriptures—1 Samuel xiv. 14 and in the same book, xvi. 20.

AN IMPROVED GO-TO-HEAD DOES NOT AFFECT THE HEAD
According to the latest scientific research, the head is not affected by the use of the Go-to-Head. The Go-to-Head is a new and improved method of cleaning the head, and it is the only one that does not affect the head. The Go-to-Head is the only one that does not affect the head.
